Forbes: Bad Policy Fallout From BP Spill

June 25, 2010

image file

From Forbes.com, June 25, 2010:

In a commentary written for Forbes.com, Eric Smith, associate director of the Tulane Energy Institute, says the Obama administration's current Gulf policy will lead to the departure of drilling companies, increasing the nation's dependence on foreign oil and dealing the U.S. Gulf Coast a dire economic blow.

To read the entire commentary, visit Forbes.com:

http://www.forbes.com/2010/06/25/oil-spill-offshore-drilling-economy-opinions-contributors-eric-smith.html