

Reuters: BP disaster will slow Gulf states' recovery

July 16, 2010

From Reuters, July 16, 2010

In Louisiana, the Gulf state most reliant on energy businesses, the economic costs of the federal moratorium on deepwater oil drilling, in place through November 30, will be severe and long lasting, according to Eric Smith, associate director of Tulane University's Energy Institute.

To read the entire article, visit reuters.com

<http://www.reuters.com/article/idUSTRE66E5M120100716?type=domesticNews>

Interested in advancing your education and/or career? Learn more about Freeman's wide range of graduate and undergraduate programs. Find the right program for you.