Barron's: No Drilling? No Problem: Plumbing the Depths

August 15, 2010

From Barron's, Aug. 15, 2010:

> You don't have to drill too deep to find intriguing plays on the Gulf's oil spill—just go to school. Tulane University professor Peter Ricchiuti and the students in his stock-research program called Burkenroad Reports are touting Carbo Ceramics (ticker: CRR), Denbury Resources (DNR) and McMoRan Exploration (MMR) as best poised to benefit from the drilling moratorium arising from the spill.

To read the article in its entirety, visit Barrons.com.

http://online.barrons.com/article/SB50001424052970203880104575419351025307126.html