Research Notes: Lingling Wang

December 2, 2015

Lingling Wang's paper "Executive Compensation Incentives Contingent on Long-term Accounting Performance," co-authored with Zhi Li, has been accepted for publication in the Review of Financial Studies. Wang is an assistant professor of finance at the A. B. Freeman School of Business.

Interested in advancing your education and/or career? Learn more about Freeman's wide range of graduate and undergraduate programs. Find the right program for you.