The Hill: Whom is AI replacing? We deserve to know.

July 2, 2026

Lisa LaViers, assistant professor of accounting, contributed an opinion piece to The Hill on the need for greater corporate transparency on the issue of job losses related to AI.

> Accurate, timely information about which roles are being displaced would allow workers to retrain toward marketable skillsets, let universities steer students into majors with better employment outcomes and enable policymakers to spot concentrations of disruption before they turn into crises.

To read the article in its entirety, visit thehill.com:

https://thehill.com/opinion/technology/5947906-ai-workforce-reduction-transparency/